CAMPING GUIDE

BROUGHT TO YOU BY THE
ORDER OF THE ARROW KIDI KIDISH LODGE

Dear Scouts,

As you may already know, the outdoor experience is essential for Scouting. Scouting and the Order of the Arrow are both based around camping. The Order of the Arrow strives to provide cheerful service and promote camping. Scouting works to build character, citizenship, and leadership. None of these things are possible without the outdoor experience. Camping provides a practical opportunity to build upon the Scout oath, law, and other core scouting values.

When Scouts go camping, they work and grow together. The best way to learn to care for nature is to be in nature, and I believe that there is no better place to learn to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, and all the other Scouting values than the outdoors. Because of this, we must make camping a very important and frequent part of scouting.

Scouting values are ideal for a great camping experience. The Order of the Arrow is based on camping and uses camping to perform service and have fellowship. Many of our Order of the Arrow events are created with camping at the center. This happens because camping is the best way to learn and perform the values of scouting and the Order of the Arrow.

This guide has been created with the purpose of promoting camping to you, the Scouts. I hope reading this will help you make an informed decision on where and how to go camping. I encourage you to get with your troop or patrol and plan a great camping experience. With that I leave you to look through this guide and to learn the scouting way through camping.

Yours in Service,

Ethan Voss Lodge Chief
